

Quick Start Guide to

eBooks

Daniel Boone Regional Library

www.dbrl.org

The Daniel Boone Regional Library (DBRL) offers an online collection of 22,000 eBooks through a subscription to NetLibrary. DBRL cardholders have access to this collection via our Web site 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Electronic books are books you can read on your computer. Rather than checking out a physical book from the library and taking it home, you can read or search these books online. The collection includes classic literature, how-to books, travel guides, scholarly titles and a wide range of nonfiction topics like technology, business, finance, history, culture, spirituality, nature and politics.

With a Netlibrary account you can read an electronic book anytime of the day or night from your computer. While you're viewing an eBook, you can do keyword searching within it and add your own saved notes. You can print excerpts from your book, and there is also a thesaurus and a dictionary available complete with illustrations.

Accessing the eBook Collection

Go to www.dbrl.org and click the “NetLibrary Audiobook/eBook” link. From there, click “Log In to NetLibrary.” From within a DBRL library, you can search for eBooks and view them without a NetLibrary account. If, however, you want to use eBooks from home, create bookmarks or save notes, you will need to create a NetLibrary account (see below).

Electronic books also appear in the library catalog alongside traditional books and audio materials. The entries, listed as “electronic resources,” have a link to the NetLibrary site.

You can access downloadable eAudiobooks in the same way.

Creating a NetLibrary Account

To access eBooks from outside your library, create bookmarks, or save notes, you must first create a free NetLibrary account using a DBRL computer at one of our three locations (Columbia Public Library, Callaway County Public Library in Fulton, Southern Boone County Public Library in Ashland). Once your account is established, you can access the NetLibrary service from home or anywhere you use the Internet.

1. Go to www.dbrl.org/netlibrary.
2. Click the “Create Account” link.
3. Select a username and password and enter your identifying information (name, e-mail address).

Tip: This account will also allow you to download and listen to audiobooks from Netlibrary.

Searching for an eBook

Basic search is on the home page and is also on the right side of most pages.

1. Enter a search term in the Basic Search box.
2. Select full text, keyword, title, author or subject and click “Search.”

Advanced Searches can use multiple fields and Boolean operators.

1. Click the “Advanced Search” link.
2. Use the drop-down menus to select search parameters (title, author, full text, subject, ISBN, etc.).
3. Enter search term(s) using Boolean operators (AND, OR, NEAR).
4. Click “Search.”

Searching Tip:

- You can refine search results by using optional limiters such as publication year, publisher or language; and specify sort order by newest first, oldest first, top matches or title.

Reading an eBook

Click the “View this eBook” link and NetLibrary will open the book in an online reader with the book on the right side, a navigation bar at the top and a tool palette on the left side. Turn the pages using the “Next” button at the top right.

The format of the book viewing area and the navigation tools available may change depending on the format of the eBook you are viewing. (The Adobe Reader® plug-in is required to view some eBooks.)

Reading Tips:

- Occasionally, you may not be able to access a book because someone else is viewing it.
- To return to search results, revise the search or return to the home page, you can use the “Home,” “Back” and “Close Item” links in the upper left corner of your browser.

Favorites List and Notes

When you are viewing an eBook, you can add a note to any page and save notes for future reference.

1. Select the specific page you wish to annotate.
2. Click on the “Note” tab located in the tool palette on the left.
3. Fill in a descriptive “Name” for your note and add text (up to 500 characters) in the “Note” field.
5. Click on “Add Note.”

You can always access any note you’ve made in a book. While logged in, choose “Favorites and Notes” at the top of the page. You will see a list of notes you’ve made in the past and any eBooks you’ve added to your “Favorites.” Add any title to this list by choosing “Add to Favorites” from the details or search pages. Your notes and list will be saved so you can view them then next time you log in.

Printing

Depending on the format of the eBook, you may print one page at a time by using your browser’s print function or by using the print function on the Adobe Reader® toolbar. You may copy selections of text by using your browser’s copy function or by using the “Select Tool” function on the Adobe® toolbar. Printing all of an eBook violates copyright laws. NetLibrary takes precautions to protect copyright laws; if a suspicious usage pattern indicating excessive printing or copying is detected, the activity is logged and you are sent a copyright warning message.

Finding Help

Detailed help is available by clicking on the “Help” tab in the top navigation bar. For additional assistance, ask a librarian.
